Major Successes in Supreme Court Litigation

- HCJ 11437/05 Kav La'Oved (Worker's Hotline) v. Ministry of Interior (Supreme Court ruling on the unconstitutionality of the Ministry's regulation according to which a migrant worker who gave birth would be allowed to remain in Israel only upon sending her baby away by the age of three months, 2011).
- HCJ 1105/06 Kav La'Oved (Worker's Hotline) v. Ministry of Welfare (Supreme Court ruling on advanced health right that migrant workers, who stay legally in the country for over a decade, are entitled to, 2014).
- HCJ 2405/06 Kav La'Oved (Worker's Hotline) v. Ministry of Trade and Labor (Supreme Court litigation, still pending, challenging Israel's past blanket refusal to sign bilateral agreements with sending countries of migrant workers; following the petition, Israel changed its position, and signed bilateral agreements with Thailand, Sri Lanka, Moldova etc.)
